

Alleluia, alleluia. This is the day the Lord has made. Let us rejoice and be glad today. Alleluia.

My Brothers and Sisters,

The parish staff and I want to wish all of you a most blessed and happy Easter. In a special way, we want to welcome all of you who have returned home to Little Flower for Easter and all our visitors.

Today we celebrate Jesus' resurrection from the dead, his triumph over sin, suffering, sickness, and death. As St. Paul wrote, "We know that Christ, raised from the dead, dies no more; death no longer has power over him" [Rom. 6:9-10].

However, to understand Easter, we have to understand it in relation to Holy Thursday, Good Friday, and Holy Saturday. Fr. Andrew Greeley has written that there are three themes connected with the celebration of the Christian Passover.¹ On Holy Thursday, Jesus instituted the sacraments of Eucharist and Holy Orders and washed the feet of his disciples. Fr. Greeley suggests that the theme of Holy Thursday is community: "Because the loaf of bread is one, we, though many, are one body, for we all partake of the one loaf" [1 Cor. 10:17]. Also, by washing his disciples' feet, Jesus taught that the community of believers is to be a community that serves. Good Friday celebrated the theme of freedom. Dying on the cross, Jesus freed us both from sin and from the fear of death.

In today's Gospel, the angels said to the women, "Why do you seek the living one among the dead? He is not here, but he has been raised" [Lk. 24:5b-6a]. Holy Saturday and Easter celebrate the theme of new life. Today the church is filled with symbols of life: light, water, flowers, color, and music. On Easter, Jesus rose glorious and immortal, triumphing over sin, suffering, sickness, and death and became a "life-giving spirit" [1 Cor. 15:45b]. Also, after one year when we did not celebrate the Easter Vigil or come together on Easter Sunday and a second year when we celebrated a modified Easter Vigil and restricted attendance on Easter because of the pandemic, today I hope we are also feeling more alive because we are all able to be present together as a parish family to celebrate this most holy day together.

Throughout this past year, but especially during the season of Lent, our Neophytes (our former catechumens and candidates) have entered into the mystery of Jesus' dying and rising. Last night, they were configured to Christ through the reception of the sacraments of initiation—baptism, confirmation, and Eucharist. Their challenge going forward will be to continue to "grow into the likeness of the risen Christ,"² to continue to become the best version of themselves.³

Likewise, if, but only if, we have entered into the spirit of Lent, today we celebrate not only Jesus' resurrection to new life but also our own resurrection to new life with him. Through the discipline of Lent—prayer, fasting, and almsgiving—we have turned away from the selfishness and sin that is part of all of our lives to open ourselves to God, others, and love.

My brothers and sisters, what does the resurrection of Jesus really mean? Several years ago, at an Easter Vigil, Pope Benedict XVI explained that it means that "Life is stronger than death. Good is stronger than evil. Love is stronger than hate. Truth is stronger than lies."⁴ Jesus' resurrection is also a sign and cause of hope, something we so desperately need in these troubled times. We have lived with the pandemic since 2020. Our cities and streets are plagued by violence. We are witnessing a horrific unjust war in Ukraine. At the Easter Vigil in 2020, Pope Francis said, "It is a new and living hope that comes from God. It is not mere optimism.... Jesus' hope is different. He plants in our hearts the conviction that God is able to make everything work unto good, because even from the grave he brings life."⁵

Alleluia, alleluia. This is the day the Lord has made. Let us rejoice and be glad today. Alleluia.

¹Andrew M. Greeley, Ascent into Hell, (New York, NY: Warner Books, 1983), xi.

²Preface of the Holy Eucharist II, The Sacramentary, (New York: Catholic Book Publishing Co, 1974), P48, p. 469.

³Matthew Kelly, Rediscovering Catholicism: Journeying Toward Our Spiritual North Star, (Cincinnati, Ohio: Beacon Publishing, 2002, p. 69. "...to become the-best-version-of-yourself."

⁴Homily of His Holiness Benedict XVI, Holy Saturday, 7 April 2012, Saint Peter's Basilica, https://www.vatican.va/content/benedict-xvi/en/homilies/2012/documents/hf_ben-xvi_hom_20120407_veglia-pasquale.html.

⁵Homily of His Holiness Pope Francis, Holy Saturday, 11 April 2020, Saint Peter's Basilica, https://www.vatican.va/content/francesco/en/homilies/2020/documents/papa-francesco_20200411_omelia-vegliapascuale.html.